Community Bridges

NHTI, Concord's Community College

For the past several years, Community Bridges has acted as a practicum placement for students in our Early Care and Education for Young Children with Disabilities Degree program. Students are learning how to care for young children with a developmental delay or other established condition. Additionally, therapists from Community Bridges provide services for children with Individualized Family Service Plans (IFSP) at the NHTI campus lab school, the Child and Family Development Center (CFDC). Classroom teachers at the CFDC coordinate with occupational therapists from Community Bridges to integrate individual therapies into their classroom practice.The CFDC also offers meeting space for families and Community Bridges therapists to conduct their annual IFSP meetings.
