Presidents' Good Steward Award

Dr. Leigh Marthe

Director of Instructional Services

River Valley Community College

As a witness to the power of higher education in her own life as a first generation college student, it is a passion of Dr. Leigh Marthe's to support the hope of higher education in the lives of thousands of students. She currently works at River Valley Community College as the Director of Instructional Services. This leadership role puts her and her team at the hub of service for cultivating the promise of transformative change through education. Faculty members in Dr. Marthe's department work to support the most vulnerable and least prepared members of the region for college success and degree attainment. Her department is also the home of Service Learning courses which charges Dr. Marthe to send students out into the community each semester to build partnerships with service organizations. In addition to her work in higher education, Dr. Marthe served New Hampshire working alongside our New Hampshire federal delegation to support veteran and active military families, elders, and special populations. Leigh is active in her faith community and the outreach ministries. Leigh is a published poet and active in the arts community working on the board of the Monadnock Writers' Group for 10 years. Dr. Marthe has significantly advanced public service on River Valley Community College's campus and beyond and it is an honor to award her Campus Compact for New Hampshire's Presidents' Good Steward Award.
