Campus Compact

Campus Compact Engaged Campus Webinar Series

A series of webinars to encourage member dialogue about impact, assessment and the connection between civic engagement and emergent trends.

Register online at www.compact.org, $50/webinar for members

The Engaged Campus: Preparing for the 2015 Carnegie Community Engagement Classification (PRE-RECORDED)

Available Friday, October 12, 2012 – December 21, 2012

presenters

Dr. John Saltmarsh, Co-Director, New England Resource Center for Higher Education

Ms. Gail Robinson, Director of Service-Learning, American Association of Community Colleges

Dr. Robert Bringle, Kulynych/Cline Distinguished Professor of Psychology, Appalachian State University

Ms. Lori Moog, Director of Service Learning and Community Outreach, Raritan Valley Community College

Presenters will share information about the 2015 application cycle for the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching Elective Community Engagement Classification, discuss the ways it advances institutional engagement and offer "on the ground" perspectives from two- and four-year institutions. This initial offering has been pre-recorded for viewing at Campus Compact regional and statewide launches of activities and planning focused on the "engaged campus" and is also available for individual viewing.

The Engaged Campus: Approaches to Measuring Community Impact

Wednesday, November 14, 2012
2:00 – 3:00 PM EDT

presenter

Dr. Barbara Holland, Higher Education Researcher and Consultant, affiliations with University of Sydney, Indiana University-Purdue University Indianapolis and Portland State University

Join Dr. Barbara Holland in a presentation and discussion about strategies for measuring community impact. She will share a variety of approaches for getting started with the development of community impact measures including important factors to consider in planning and implementation. This is a great offering for those interested in developing a focused impact assessment.

Campus Compact Engaged Campus Webinar Series

Engaged Learning Economies: Linking Civic Engagement and Economic Development

Thursday, January 17, 2013
2:00 – 3:00 PM EDT

presenters

Dr. Amanda Wittman, Director of Academic and Strategic Initiatives, Campus Compact

Ms. Terah Crews, University Innovation Fellow, Arizona State University

An Engaged Learning Economy connects economic outreach and civic engagement in community-campus partnerships. This webinar will explore the value of creating engaged learning economies to develop economically vibrant communities. Case studies will be used to highlight and discuss approaches to aligning civic engagement and economic development efforts.

The Engaged Campus: Linking Civic Engagement and Social Entrepreneurism

Thursday, February 14, 2013
2:00 – 3:00 PM EDT

presenters

Dr. Thomas Schnaubelt, Executive Director, Haas Center for Public Service, Stanford University

Jacqueline Smith, J.D., Advisor to the President for Social Embeddedness and Executive Director, University Initiatives, Arizona State University

This webinar will explore connections between civic engagement and social entrepreneurism and focus on areas for strategic alignment. How are institutions linking these efforts? Are there focus areas for greatest impact? What are the resources for connecting social entrepreneurism and civic engagement activities?

The Engaged Campus: Linking Student and Academic Affairs

Thursday, March 21, 2013
2:00 – 3:00 PM EDT

presenters

Dr. Juan Franco, Vice Chancellor for Student Affairs, University of Nebraska-Lincoln, and Interim Executive Director, Nebraska Campus Compact

Ms. Linda Major, Director, Center for Civic Engagement, University of Nebraska-Lincoln

Dr. Nancy Mitchell, Director, Undergraduate Education, University of Nebraska-Lincoln

This webinar will involve participants in a discussion about creating partnerships between student and academic affairs in civic engagement strategies. Conversation will focus on examples of successful models, opportunities for collaboration, and the outcomes of greater alignment.

Campus Compact